

Hello,

Thanks for your quick reply.

The Twitter APIs access will be used in a pedagogical context related to a course I'm attending as a student at IMT Mines Alès (<https://www.mines-ales.fr>). I'm currently learning to code and a project we are doing requires me to use the Standard search provided by your APIs.

I'll develop a little private web application in which the use case is to show information regarding some tweets [...]. Basically I'll print tweets mentioning a specific hashtag and metadata related to them.

The aim of this project is to introduce me to the Twitter APIs as it could be interesting for me to later use them in a professional context subscribing to premium or enterprise editions.

Please feel free to contact my professor at pierre-antoine.jean@mines-ales.fr if you need an official approval from the my school.

Sincerely yours,
